1. Introduction

The development of drug trafficking in Indonesia is very rapid. Many things have been done in "fighting" drugs, especially in Indonesia. However, the symptoms of drugs and their victims are increasing (quantitatively), they have even become endemic. Currently, drug dependence abuse in Indonesia is quite high when viewed from the number of cases and users identified. Several incidents caused by drug abuse also make the public feel concerned.

In line with the increasing number of drug abuse, the government has made efforts to crack down on syndicates and dealers by providing severe penalties, even up to the death penalty. As for victims of users or addicts, the government has made efforts to reduce the adverse effects of drug use by providing rehabilitation facilities, both medically and socially. This is done so that victims of drug users can recover, become productive humans, be able to work to meet the needs of life and their families, and become a healthy and strong generation of the nation. One of the efforts made in the rehabilitation phase was providing entrepreneurship training.

In general, entrepreneurship training (how to start a business) is one solution to reviving the community's economy in the midst of an increasingly large economy and increasingly narrow job opportunities. No exception for former drug users who have entered the rehabilitation stage. The provision of knowledge, provision, and entrepreneurial motivation is expected to be a way for them to rise up to enter a new life and prepare themselves in the midst of society.

Entrepreneurship is a process in creating something new, where the process is done creatively and full of innovation. The purpose of entrepreneurship is to create something new that is useful for others and has added value. Entrepreneurship is a mental attitude of someone who has high creativity. Someone who has an entrepreneurial spirit is someone who is active, unique, empowered to make something, and is useful for many people. Entrepreneurial activities have a dynamic process in order to create something that is accompanied by models, resources, time, and risks that may occur. By having knowledge about entrepreneurship, it is hoped that new creative businesses will emerge so that they can be a solution for increasing the economic level of the community which in turn can improve the economic life of the Indonesian nation.

Based on this, the lecturers of the Faculty of Business Economics, Widyatama University in collaboration with the West Java National Narcotics Agency (BNN) held entrepreneurship training for BNN assisted residents in the West Java region by taking the title:

ENTREPRENEURSHIP

According to Alma (2011: 24), entrepreneurs are people who break the existing economic system with the introduction of the goods and services that are new, by creating new organizational forms or process new raw materials

Factors Driving Success Entrepreneurial According to Suryana (2014: 108; Nel, 2020; Isabirye & orando, 2020; Dr, 2020; Gomez et al., 2020; Junior et al., 2020), success in entrepreneurship is determined by three factors, which include the following:

1. Ability and willingness. A person who has no ability, but a lot of will and a person who has will, but does not have the ability, both of them will not be successful entrepreneurs. On the other hand, a person who has the will equipped with the ability will be a successful person. Willingness alone is not enough if it is not equipped with abilities.
2. Strong determination and hard work. People who do not have a strong determination, but have the will to work hard and people who like to work hard, but do not have a strong will, both will not be successful entrepreneurs.
3. Opportunities and opportunities. There is a solution there is a chance, otherwise there is no solution there will be no chance. Opportunities exist if we create opportunities themselves, not looking for or waiting for opportunities that come to us.
